

Learning Journal 22.5.14

We started this week with a fantastic trip to Holy island where we watched seals, birds and wildlife and did some lovely crafts. The sun shone all day, and despite the cold wind we all had a great time. There were quite a few children asleep on the bus coming home as we walked a long way and enjoyed lots of fresh air.

The Lookout. We watched seals from the top through a telescope.

We made birds and seals and underwater port holes in our craft sessions.

In the hide we watched swallows, pigeons, swans, ducks and sparrows. We played bird bingo and did a quiz. It was lovely.

And we had a fantastic picnic and a play on the grass in the sunshine.

Other excitement this week includes our butterflies hatching out of their cocoons.

Mrs Swinbank's kittens also came for a visit to our class with their Mum Georgie. We had cuddles and watched them learning to walk and play.

We have found out all sorts about baby animals and how they are born, grow and feed. We have learned to be gentle and kind to all creatures and that everything creature God made is important and special. What a wonderful week!

Our half term holiday is next week. Hope the sun shines and you all have a lovely time with your families. We start school again on Monday 2nd June.
